

Mr. Bump

Once, Mr Bump had an extraordinarily lucky day! Would you like to hear about it? It really was amazing. You see, Mr Bump is always bumping into things...

...or falling off things.

or tripping
over things...

Mr Bump gets so many bumps and scrapes that he hardly notices them any more. Have you ever had a bump or a scrape?

This many children
said yes!

This many children
said no!

But one day, Mr Bump didn't get a single bump or even a teeny-tying scrape! Was it because he didn't bump into anything?

Of course not – he's Mr Bump, after all. No, Mr Bump's incredibly lucky day happened like this...

Mr Bump had just left his house to go to the shops when... careful!

He slipped on a banana skin and flew up into the air! Luckily, Mr Tall was passing by just at that moment. He caught Mr Bump and lowered him safely down to the ground.

Then, on his way into town... oops! Mr Bump tripped and fell into a big hole! But the hole was full of soft mud and he had quite a lot of fun squelching about in it until Mr Strong came along and pulled him out.

At the supermarket, he tripped over his own feet and knocked into a huge pile of jam jars.

Oh no!

But Mr Tickle caught them all with his long, wriggly arms and helped Mr Bump to stack them up nice and neatly again. And he gave Mr Bump a really big tickle that made him laugh for a long time!

Would you like a big tickle from Mr Tickle?

This many children said

YES, please!

This many children said

NO, thank you!

“My friends have really saved me today,” thought Mr Bump as he rode the bus home from the shops. Then, as he got off...

watch out! He tumbled down the stairs of the bus. Bump, bump... squuuash! Mr Bump landed safe and sound on the fluffy new pillows that Mr Happy had just bought.

“What an amazingly lucky day!” thought Mr Bump that night, as he snuggled down and turned off the light. He fell fast asleep and then...

bump! What do you think happened?

He fell out of bed. Of course.

Say Goodnight, Mr Bump. Sleep tight!

MR. MEN.
LITTLE MISS.
MAGAZINE
BIG READING
ADVENTURE

National Literacy
Trust

Mr. Bump's bumper car!

1. Cut along the black dashed lines and fold along the white dotted ones.

2. Colour the car, stick the tabs inside, then pop in Mr Bump!

3. Cut and fold the tree for Mr Bump to bump into!

Fold back.

Fold back to stand up.

© THORP